Opacum Land Trust Annual Appeal

Many of you have already responded to our annual appeal, mailed in early December. Numerous membership renewals and donations towards the Flynt Quarry land purchase in Monson have been received. If your notice is still sitting on your desk, remind yourself to mail it today. Thank you!

LOOP YEAR: 365 Days on the Trail

What do you do if you're an amateur adventurer and environmentalist who dreams of hiking the Appalachian Trail or saving the rainforest, but you can't quit your day job or abandon personal commitments?

John Sheirer created his own project: from May 17, 2005 to May 16, 2006, he hiked the same trail in Somers, CT once a day, every day.

He chronicled the year in Loop Year: 365 Days on the Trail, a book composed of 365-word accounts of his hiking project. Along the way, Sheirer discovered that an obsession with hiking and caring for the same New England trail every day can be surprisingly adventurous.

Loop Year received the Connecticut Green Circle Award for environmental activism, and will be available for sale, as well as several other titles by the author. Please see John's website, www.johnsheirer.com for more information.

Norcross Lecture Focuses on Flynt Quarry

On Saturday, March 20

The Flynt Quarry Lands will be the topic of a one-hour talk at the Norcross Wildlife Sanctuary in Monson.

Take a "virtual" walk to discover the history of the property and the Flynt Quarry. Learn about the quarrying, where Monson Granite went, and what the land looks like today, almost 100 years after operations ceased.

This 165 acre property is nestled in the heart of Monson, and Opacum is currently partnering with the town to preserve it forever.

Norcross Lectures are held each Saturday during the winter months at 1:30 p.m. Please call 413-267-9654 for a reservation. For a complete list of lectures, visit www.norcrossws.org
